Founded in 1973 by Rachel Robinson, the Jackie Robinson Foundation (JRF) is a public, not-for-profit organization that perpetuates the legacy of Jackie Robinson.

For over 45 years, JRF has provided four-year scholarships, mentoring, and leadership training to minority college students who consistently achieve a nearly 100% graduation rate.

In 2018, JRF Impact will share its established 42 Strategies for Success curriculum to an expanded audience of college students across the country through an interactive online platform.

In 2019, with the opening of the Jackie Robinson Museum, JRF will build on the legacy of excellence and impact through exhibits and dynamic programming attracting people of all ages.

JRF Impact: Student Support at Scale

JRF Impact’s content will help students:

- Transition to college with tips and practical advice on adjusting to college life,
- Access financial aid resources and advice,
- Develop strong college-level learning skills, and
- Prepare for life after graduation with advice on entering the job market.

Building a legacy:
The Jackie Robinson Museum — a mission to:

- EDUCATE visitors about Jackie Robinson, the athlete, the humanitarian, the scholar, the advocate for equal rights and the family man.
- INSPIRE those interested in the history of social change and the prescription for greater progress.
- CHALLENGE people of all ages to pursue a life of achievement and purpose.

Thanks to the support of friends like you, the Foundation has raised $25 million toward a total campaign goal of $42 million, including a Museum operating endowment.
